Adverbs

In our lesson we focused on adverbs and adverbial phrases, relating to the opening of the door. Can we brainstorm a few more together?

Steadily, the door creaked open unveiling a new and wild land. The foreign world whirred with joy, buzzed with curiosity and popped with fun! Things were racing past me. Things were flying all around me. Things were bumping into me. What an absolutely marvellous place!

Repetition for effect

What does repetition for effect help us to do?

EXAMPLES:

- "The veranda is your only shelter away from the sister in bed asleep, away from the brother that plays in the tree house in the field, away from your chores that await you."
- The children make it difficult to ever rest, boys and girls of all sizes—running in and out of rooms, running up and down the corridors, running just to run.

Steadily, the door creaked open unveiling a new and wild land. The foreign world whirred with joy, buzzed with curiosity and popped with fun! Things were racing past me. Things were flying all around me. Things were bumping into me. What an absolutely marvellous place!

Exclamation

What is an exclamation sentence? Why do we use it?

What	noun phrase	pronoun	verb	!
What	large eyes	she	has	!
What	enormous teeth	it	has	!
What	a great footballer	you	are	!

How	adjective	pronoun/determiner	verb	!
How	funny	you	are	!
How	kind	you	are	!
How	wonderful	that	is	!

Steadily, the door creaked open unveiling a new and wild land. The foreign world whirred with joy, buzzed with curiosity and popped with fun! Things were racing past me. Things were flying all around me. Things were bumping into me. What an absolutely marvellous place!

Let's write together and add a sentence about how he feels about this place.

• As I looked all around me I felt...because....

• As I looked all around me I felt _____ and _____ because of _____.

Adjectives		Reasons
 confused	 excited	 I didn't know  where  I was.
 scared	 curious	 I  had  never  seen  any  place  like  this.
 happy	 nervous	 I  wanted to  explore  the place.
